Greenhouse Sensation

Summer Watering Woes Banished
No more thirsty tomatoes or parched peppers

Keeping on top of watering just got a lot easier thanks to Greenhouse Sensation's Quadgrow planter and Click & Drip veg plot irrigation kit. Both products keep plants perfectly fed and watered, so there's no more coming home to parched peppers, thirsty tomatoes or wilting watercress.

Quadgrow Planter

The Quadgrow planter keeps plants watered for days at a time, even in a scorching hot greenhouse or sun trap patio. The Quadgrow's 30 Litre SmartReservoir sits below the 4 pots and FeederMats pull water up to the plants when they need it. The plants grow more quickly and produce bigger harvests thanks to this on-demand watering which responds to a plant's needs and never stands them in water.

Summer holidays are even taken care of thanks to an optional connector which links the Quadgrow to a holiday reservoir or water butt, so no more worrying about whether your neighbour has green-fingers and a reliable memory.

Garden Answers called the Quadgrow "the answer to most gardeners' prayers."

Click & Drip

Raised bed and veg plot gardeners will welcome the back-saving Click & Drip. No more wandering back and forth with a heavy watering can, just push the Click & Drip onto a tap, lay the pipe on the veg plot and water is released as a slow drip which gives the soil time to absorb the water rather than it forming puddles and evaporating.

The dripper holes are spaced a veg friendly 30cms apart, 5 metres of non-drip pipe is included to carry water from the tap to the veg plot and optional extension kits make it easy to connect individual beds without wasting a drop of water. A timer is available to automate the watering completely when on holiday.

Although it's simple to use, the Click & Drip has been carefully designed. Blockages from limescale are prevented thanks to the kit's filter and a clever drip hole design means the pipe can even be covered by mulch or soil without blocking. It all adds up to fuss-free, effective and efficient watering.

All Greenhouse Sensation products are made in England from recycled material.
